

11th Annual Pediatric Bioethics Conference

Friday, November 2, 2018

University Center, University of North Florida, Jacksonville, Florida

Wolfson Children's Hospital, in partnership with the Florida Bioethics Network, presents the 11th Annual Pediatric Bioethics Conference.

With talks on pressing issues by experts in the field, the conference will serve as fertile ground for the development and clarification of best practices in pediatric bioethics. This conference will include sessions on topics such as determining what's in the best interest of a child, caring for patients, families and providers after a medical error, and the use of art in training health care providers.

Why you should attend

Ethics committees, health care practitioners and public policy experts are consistently faced with difficult ethical challenges. This conference will provide education surrounding such challenges, and an opportunity to engage peers and learn what others are doing to cope with the ethical issues that arise in pediatric health care.

Who should attend

This course is designed for physicians, nurses, social workers, clergy, psychologists, health administrators, occupational therapists, speech therapists, pediatric mental health workers, pediatric specialists, medical students, nursing students, ethicists, philosophers, and others with an interest in or a need for continuing education in healthcare ethics.
