

OVERVIEW

Conference Theme

On June 28, 2012, the Supreme Court of the United States held in National Federation of Independent Business v. Sebelius that the 2010 Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act is a constitutionally valid exercise of Congress' Taxing and Spending power. This holding, rather than definitively settling all issues pertaining to health care financing and delivery in the United States, instead raises or leaves open a wide variety of still-controversial legal, ethical, financial, political, and organizational questions about the future of health care in this country. An expert and experienced cohort of speakers representing an array of disciplines and perspectives will help the audience identify and grapple with the most important legal and ethical challenges awaiting them as professionals and as citizens as American society in the coming years seeks to implement the PPACA or alternatives to it.

Accreditation

This live activity has been planned and implemented in accordance with the Essential Areas and policies of the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME), through the joint sponsorship of the Medical Educational Council of Pensacola, Florida State University College of Medicine and the Florida Bioethics Network.
