Debates, Decisions, Solutions

Sponsorship opportunities

27th Annual!

We are into our second quarter century! The University of Miami Miller School of Medicine Institute for Bioethics and Health Policy and the Florida Bioethics Network announce the 27th Annual “Florida Bioethics: Debates, Decisions, Solutions” Conference. Set for April 12, 2019, in Miami, the program is the largest and longest-running community ethics event in the country.

Being a co-sponsor of this important program signals your institution’s commitment to ethics in health care.

Plans for the program include special sessions on ethics committee education, “football bioethics,” POLST and patient access to electronic health records, among others.

In most cases, conference support is less costly than a single newspaper or Web advertisement. Sponsoring hospitals, hospices and nursing homes find funds to support professional development in ethics in their education, advertising and public relations budgets. Leading institutions have ethics budgets.

It has been compellingly argued that every healthcare institution ought to support such professional development in ethics. Indeed, why would one not want to? Moreover, sponsorship levels of $2,500 and above receive automatic FBN institutional membership. This means widespread and year-round recognition of your institution for taking ethics seriously and access to a members-only website, including the FBN’s Guidelines for Ethics Committees.

This year’s program will continue our track record in providing high-quality professional development for a broad array of health professionals.

The following sponsorship and group attendance benefits are available. Note: Because of these benefits, sponsorship contributions are not gifts or donations. Unused tuition slots are assigned to students, who always attend without charge. Please call or email for more information. Other sponsorship opportunities are available.
